

school harrasment asso info

1. UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization):
 - Main Actions: Developing guidelines and resources for schools to prevent and address harassment, conducting research on school-related violence, promoting teacher training on creating inclusive environments.
 - Channels: UNESCO website, social media platforms, publications, educational conferences and events.
 - Values: Equity, inclusion, education for all, human rights.
2. UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund):
 - Main Actions: Supporting government and community initiatives to prevent and respond to school violence and harassment, providing training for teachers and students, advocating for policy change.
 - Channels: UNICEF website, social media campaigns, reports and publications, partnerships with governments and NGOs.
 - Values: Child rights, equity, protection, inclusivity.
3. Plan International:
 - Main Actions: Implementing programs to empower children and young people to stand up against bullying and harassment, advocating for safe school environments, conducting research and awareness campaigns.
 - Channels: Plan International website, social media campaigns, youth-led initiatives and projects, community workshops and events.
 - Values: Child participation, gender equality, empowerment, inclusion.
4. The Diana Award:
 - Main Actions: Delivering anti-bullying training and workshops in schools, providing resources and support to students and educators, recognizing young people's efforts to combat bullying through awards and initiatives.
 - Channels: The Diana Award website, social media platforms, school visits and presentations, peer support networks.
 - Values: Kindness, respect, leadership, community.
5. StopBullying.gov:
 - Main Actions: Providing resources, tools, and information for parents, educators, and students on bullying prevention, offering guidance on creating safe and supportive school environments, promoting evidence-based strategies.
 - Channels: StopBullying.gov website, social media outreach, educational materials, community outreach events.
 - Values: Prevention, education, collaboration, evidence-based approaches.

1.

Child Helpline International:

○Main Actions: Operating helplines for children and young people to report bullying and harassment, providing counseling and support services, collaborating with schools and communities to raise awareness and advocate for children's rights.

○Channels: Child Helpline International website, helpline services, social media platforms, partnerships with governments and NGOs.

○Values: Child rights, confidentiality, empowerment, accessibility.
2.

Anti-Bullying Alliance (ABA):

○Main Actions: Offering training and resources for schools and educators on bullying prevention, conducting research on effective interventions, advocating for policies that promote inclusive and safe school environments.

○Channels: ABA website, training workshops and conferences, social media campaigns, policy briefs and reports.

○Values: Collaboration, evidence-based practice, inclusivity, advocacy.
3.

PACER's National Bullying Prevention Center:

○Main Actions: Providing resources and support to schools and communities to prevent bullying, organizing awareness campaigns such as National Bullying Prevention Month, advocating for legislation to address bullying.

○Channels: PACER website, social media campaigns, educational materials and toolkits, community events and workshops.

○Values: Prevention, awareness, empowerment, community engagement.
4.

Red Cross Red Crescent Movement:

○Main Actions: Delivering educational programs on conflict resolution, peer mediation, and empathy-building in schools, promoting the Red Cross Red Crescent's values of humanity, impartiality, neutrality, independence, voluntary service, unity, and universality.

○Channels: Red Cross Red Crescent Movement website, educational materials, workshops and training sessions, community outreach events.

○Values: Humanity, compassion, neutrality, cooperation, inclusivity.
5.

Safeguarding Children in Education (SACE):

•Main Actions: Providing training and resources for educators and school staff on child protection policies and procedures, conducting audits and assessments of school environments, promoting a culture of safeguarding and accountability.

•Channels: SACE website, training workshops and seminars, policy documents and guidelines, consultation and support services.

•Values: Child safety, accountability, transparency, professionalism.